About Ghost Ranch

Ghost Ranch, 21,000 acres located in Northern New Mexico, is an ecumenical and interfaith education and retreat center of the Presbyterian Church (USA). For over half a century, people have come here for spiritual development, to discuss issues of peace and justice, to work together in creation care, to paint and write, to hike and to ride horseback, to research rich and globally renowned archeological and fossil quarries, to see where Georgia O'Keeffe painted, to try something new or to simply rest and renew their spirit.

It is In the Midst of New Dimensions: Native Wisdom in Dialogue

Eighth in this series, journey with us as we explore the massive transitions affecting Earth today with the help of Native American elders and teachers. As our planet faces epochal changes brought on by human beings (the "Anthropocene"), what kind of world is coming to pass? What stories, values and practices are required to sustain us during the Great Transition from industrial to ecological civilization? Learn from Native elders and Native Christian leaders, in dialogue with other voices.
